James McEachin of Hollywood Fame to be Keynote Speaker at Millersburg Military Ball

HEADQUARTERS, U.S. ARMY CADET CORPS – Mr. James McEachin, a seasoned actor for over 50 years, and a Silver Star and Purple Heart veteran of the Korean War, will be the keynote speaker for the Millersburg Military Ball on April 24th, hosted by the U.S. Army Cadet Corps in Millersburg.

McEachin is best known for performances in television hits such as “Perry Mason,” “Matlock” and “Murder She Wrote.” In recent years, he has performed patriotic performances for audiences ranging from the White House to the National Convention of the American Legion. He is the 2007 GI Film Festival Winner for Best Short Film for his presentation of “Reveille,” which has been seen by millions, and can be viewed at www.jamesmceachin.com/.

The U.S. Army Jazz Band is providing entertainment for the Millersburg Military Ball, after a gourmet meal, a presentation honoring the 113 year history of Millersburg Military Institute and the 100 year history of the U.S. Army Cadet Corps (USAC), and a tribute to the men and women who serve in the Armed Forces. The public is invited; however, seating is limited.

Reservations for the Millersburg Military Ball are available online at www.goarmycadets.com/100th, or by visiting the National Cadet Training Center, or calling (859) 484-2100, Extension 23,
